Burial of Gen. John Hunt Morgan.

[The following beautiful lines were copied from a newspaper by Mr. J. H. Miller, alias "Happy Jack," just after the removal of the body of Gen. Morgan to the Lexington cemetery, 25 years ago. It was signed "Howard" and he thought D. Howard Smith wrote it, but that gentleman afterwards told him that Robert Wickliffe Woolley was the author. Ed.]

In all the land of the captive there is no spot more sacred than the cemetery which the Virginians call Hollywood. It looks upon the James, which runs toward the sea to mingle its waters and its glories with those of the Potomac. On the banks of these two rivers there lived the noblest of their race. By their gurgling waters there now sleep better men than those who live. In that hallowed ground heroes rest, who escaped the honorable misfortune of the Appomattox. The trees were assuming their new livery, the grass was growing, a few flowers were struggling to add their beauty to the holy scene, and, while spring was leaping from the lap of winter, all that remained of the most attractive tenant of Hollywood was taken from its noble society to be returned to the State that bore him. If Virginians regret to see such a superb monument removed from the holy city, let them receive consolation from the reflection that there are still sleeping there, in silent graves, heroes sufficient to fill the history of twenty nations with examples which are long may urge the captives to break the chains that bind them and strike once more for freedom.

As the solemn cortege moves to-day beneath the shadow of Clay's monument, and by the grave where Hanson sleeps, bearing the dead body of the knightliest horseman who ever drew sword to guard his own and his country's honor, braver than all men, more generous than brave, more merciful than generous, followed by men who had often before followed him where danger was, curious thoughts will arise in the minds of Kentuckians, there: Why is this man dead? Flattered by nature with every grace to adorn his person, with the power to charm alike manhood and beauty—no rank too high—no society too refined—no place in which he would not have been an ornament—why was this man killed? Were there Kentuckians who guided foreign regiments across the State to pillage Virginia, to murder Hanson, Sidney Johnston and Morgan? Perhaps it is well they are dead; but remember there was no price upon their swords. High rank did not allure their virtue, nor did bribes win their arms to enslave their State. Army commissions covering a foreign scheme to pillage, were spurned as gentlemen spurn dishonor. Better that they have not lived to see the disgrace of the country they loved and served so well. By the aid of Kentuckians a false Virginian now dominates over once-free Kentucky. The voice of eloquence is softened into a whine of complaint. Tones of defiance are hushed into a whisper of cowardice. Timid men sit in high places with too much selfishness to addicate and too little courage to execute. With Joab's friendship these timid men counsel those who obeyed Johnston, Breckinridge, Buckner, Hanson and Morgan, to confess that they are ashamed of the flag they followed. Ashamed of what? The fact of defeat and humiliating conquest is admitted. But ashamed of what? Ashamed that we refused to act with dishonor? Refused to aid foreigners to conquer our own people? Ashamed because bribes could not allure nor danger intimidate? Never! Never! Never! Never, by the glories of Stonewall Jackson and of Lee! Never, by the grand and picturesque death of Sidney Johnston! Never, by the ashes of Hanson and Morgan; never, by the untarnished sword of Breckinridge will we confess that we are ashamed of the flag we followed.

Let the cortege move on with its dust. The body was killed in war, but I defy the conqueror to suppress the name that rises from the grave. Tradition will tell it, history will perpetuate it, and in song and sweetest music will pour forth its glory from the lips of children, and the knightly horseman will be the first picture which the father will paint for his boy and the strongest example to urge manhood to honorable action.

Farewell! Friend of my youth, companion in life, brave, generous, merciful comrade, farewell. Upon the turf that covers you, fair hands will strew immortelles. Beautiful word, for it accords so well with Morgan's name. I will go often to your grave, and I may feel your spirit there, and many more will go with me. Farewell! Let the cortege move on! The tears that flow down the cheeks from eyes not used to weeping, come from men who never wept in battle. Let the brave soldiers weep over their dead chieftain.

Preaching at 10:30 this morning and 7:30 to-night. The night services will be held each night, but it will depend somewhat on the attendance if the morning service is continued after to-day.

—The 25th annual convention of the Kentucky Sunday School Union closed at Georgetown after a three days' session with 272 delegates present. Large crowds have been in attendance at every meeting, and great interest has been manifested. It was one of the most successful conventions in the history of the organization, and great good has been accomplished. An invitation was extended from Shelbyville for the convention to meet there next year, which was accepted. Miss Mamie Huber was re-elected secretary.

CRAB ORCHARD.

—Born, to Mrs. J. A. Newland, on the 24th ult., a girl. The little stranger has not been named.

—Mr. J. Will James and his excellent wife left Saturday night for their winter sojourn in the South, which they will pass at Punta Gorda, in which vicinity his business interests are located. Dr. B. F. Zeller will occupy his elegant cottage during his absence.

—Rev. Mr. Stout, of Lancaster, has been engaged by the Baptist church here to deliver two sermons a month, one on the 1st and one on the 3d Sunday. He is spoken of as being erudite and able, and both saint and sinner may find it profitable to listen to him next Lord's day morning.

—Mr. Charley Sayers and family, consisting of wife, son and three handsome daughters, have moved here from Somerset, and rented the Armendt property on Springs avenue. Mr. Sayers is by profession a lumberman and owns an extensive tract of timber in Eastern Kentucky, which he is now having turned into marketable shape. The young ladies will be quite an interesting addition to C. O. society.

—Scott Farris, the turfman, who has in training five promising young racers, among which are Dan Wallin's "Capt. Welch," John Holmes' "Sliding Jennie" and his own "Essie Mayher" (named for an old sweetheart), made a trial of their speed Saturday on the half-mile course, and he declares that they will eclipse anything of their age in Central Kentucky. He will leave for the Somerset fair the 7th, taking with him "Essie Mayher" and "Capt. Welch," both of which Scott hopes to bring back wearing the ribbons.

—R. H. Bronaugh bought this week of various parties in Pulaski 75 feeding hogs averaging 150 pounds at $3.25 per cwt.; also of Holman & Rice 33 breeding ewes at $5 per head. Morris Harris bought Thursday of T. Mc. Holmes 20 head of feeding hogs, averaging 125 pounds, at $3.50 per cwt. A. T. Nunnally bought of R. H. Bronaugh last week 13 head of feeding cattle, averaging 1,250 pounds, at $3.25 per cwt., to be delivered September 15th. Nunnally also bought of Grove Kennedy a yoke of cattle and a bunch of fat hogs at $3.50.

—Mrs. Pollard, wife of P. T. Pollard, died Thursday of tumor of the heart, with which she has been afflicted for several months, and the bursting of which is supposed to have caused her death. She was an exemplary wife, a good Christian and a most excellent lady. Besides a husband and several children, three brothers and one sister are left to mourn her loss, among whom is Mr. Joe Severance, of Stanford. Her remains were interred in the family lot on the hill, after some appropriate remarks by Rev. M. C. Morgan. To the grief-stricken family may consolation come from Him Who knoweth the sorrows of all.

—A chance acquaintance, some hat-lifting, smiles and tender glances, a subsequent meeting, an ardent courtship in oaken-paneled parlors and under moonlit boughs, a vow, a ring, the merry tinnabulations of a marriage—so runs the current of a little romance, which was terminated yesterday morning when Mr. F. Arthur Zeller and Miss Katie James drove to the depot and took the north-bound express for Louisville, where the ceremony which made them husband and wife was performed in the parlors of the Alexander Hotel, at 9 o'clock the same morning, in the presence of the guest, Miss Nannie Kennedy and Mr. W. A. Brooks acting as attendants. Only a few weeks ago Mr. Zeller purchased a drug store in Noblesville, Ind., and went thither, but Hoosierdom was anything but pleasant, with his fancy ever wandering to the girl he left behind him in Old Kentucky. So he returned last week, ostensibly to visit his parents, but attended, as we see, with an incident of a livelier nature. There were no objections to the marriage being solemnized here. A romantic taste and Mr. Zeller's immediate return to Noblesville caused the couple to select Louisville as their Greta Green. Miss James, the bride, is the youngest daughter of the late George W. James, and in addition to her many graces and accomplishments, possesses quite a liberal fortune. Mr. Zeller, besides being as handsome as Apollo, is a young man of fine business tact and boasts of a world of friends, all of whom, and foremost among them your correspondent, wish him and his winsome bride the enjoyment of the fat of the land, coupled with an eternity of bliss. Mr. Zeller and wife will not return to Crab Orchard, but go at once to Noblesville to make their home.

—The galvanic battery at J. R. Bailey's is the latest thing in town; and enough electricity has been shot along the slender backbones of our dudes already to kill 100 Kennmiers, if condensed and so applied.

—Disregarding that famous epigram of Pope's, "One science only will one genius fit," Fontaine Fox Bobbitt, whose down-hill career as a politician has made his name the synonym of demagogism, has gone to his eremitic cell and a voice cometh therefrom which saith that he is writing a history of the United States, which will be hurried at humanity and posterity some time in March. It begins with Columbus' torchlight procession on Guanahani and winds up with the latest "setto" of the Hatfields and McCoy's. Those who have seen the advance sheets of the work have sold their farms, their furniture and plates, ready to take a canvasser's outfit, and the gaping world waits expectantly for the graphic and thrilling narrative which is to lay in the shade the researches of Gibbon, the eloquent periods of Macaulay and the exhaustive tones of Bancroft!

—Mr. S. R. Kennedy, master of trains, was up from Russellville in the early part of the week to see his home folks. Mrs. A. W. Montgomery is entertaining at her picturesque country home the Misses Owsley, of Danville. Mrs. David Newland and little son are visiting relatives in Boone county. Mr. Clarence Hardin, the boss amateur painter, is back from Barboursville, after helping to beautify some of the suburban residences lately erected by the boomers. Dr. W. B. Penny and C. C. Carson, of Stanford, were in town Saturday, gossiping and taking in the sights. Mrs. John Lawson, who was Miss Lula Bowman, and two winsome youngsters, are the guests of Mr. J. H. Stevens, on Springs avenue. Mrs. Lelia Livingston is at her father's, Dr. W. M. Doores. Mrs. W. J. Debaun and daughter, of Perryville, have returned home from a week's visit to Mrs. W. M. Garnett. John T. Lynn, the popular drummer, was in town this week. Mr. Gallatin Bobbitt, who for several years has been making his home in the far West, arrived Friday to visit his old Kentucky home. Rev. S. M. Tudor, of Georgetown College, and Rev. Steele, of Barboursville, were guests at Mr. D. B. Edmiston's one day this week. Mrs. Ellen Clifford, after a lengthy visit to Virginia, is visiting her father, Mr. Reese Ward. Judge A. M. Egbert left this week for Pineville, where he goes to look after the drug trade of E. W. Jones, who is off for a month's vacation. R. H. Bronaugh, the prince of the East End stock traders, is back from Pulaski, where he bought several lots of hogs and sheep. Mrs. J. H. Tucker is visiting Mr. Carter, at Turnersville. Miss Minnie Elliott, accompanied by Master John and Miss Hallie Edmiston, returned to Kirksville Monday. Mrs. Will Jones and son, James, of Buckeye, were guests of Mrs. W. R. Dillion this week. Mrs. Jennie Burch, of Pineville, has returned to her mountain home, after a two weeks' visit to the Misses Hardin.

FARM FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN.

On account of continued bad health, I desire to sell privately my farm of 30 Acres of blue-grass land at a bargain, in a fine state of fertility. Would sell 200 acres with improvements. Location one mile south of Stanford, and the laying of the farm is superb. There are all of the necessary improvements, including a frame dwelling of five rooms and hall, a large basement barn, and all buildings new. For further information, apply to 48-12 ROBT. McALISTER, Stanford.

FARM FOR SALE.

Farm For Sale.

I desire to sell my farm of about 130 acres, situated about 1½ miles north of Stanford on the Rush Branch pike, opposite the old church. There are 20 acres in wheat, and the balance of the farm well set in timothy. Good dwelling of four rooms and kitchen and a splendid view of the State, and this has undoubtedly been due to the fact that the county has been without railroad facilities, until the past two years. No county in the State raises finer horses, cattle, hogs, grain, or tobacco. Our sole reason for offering to sell this farm is to close our partnership, and at a low price and on good terms, we will sell the cheapest farm in Kentucky. No use to go West, and you'll say so, when you see this land. To parties who might want this land, we will sell the whole or a desirable portion of it and will suit purchasers. Call on us on the place or address us at Mooreville, Ky. 44-6W A. C. & JOHN TAYLOR.

WASHINGTON CO. STOCK & GRAIN FARM.

AT PRIVATE SALE.

To close a partnership, we offer at private sale our Farm of

Nearly Five Hundred Acres.

Near Mooresville Washington county,

This Farm is situated on the turnpike leading from Mooresville to Chaplin and is about 10 miles from Springfield, 7 miles from Bloomfield, 5 miles from Hill, a depot on the railroad, and 10 miles from Bardonia and Springfield, and about an hour's run from Louisville. There is on the Farm a good comfortable house of 6 rooms, the main building is a brick, having burned a year or so ago, and all necessary farm buildings, consisting of stables, corn cribs, granary, smoke house, hoggy house, poultry house and yard and two large tobacco barns. A good portion of this land is in blue-grass, timothy and clover and has a beautiful supply of never-failing water, well distributed in the different pastures and fields; and the whole is in a good state of cultivation. In short, it is a highly productive Farm, which the crops of grasses, grain and tobacco grown on it yearly attest. It is an incontrovertible fact that Washington county lands have been selling 25 to 30 per cent. cheaper than lands of a like character in any other part of the State, and this has undoubtedly been due to the fact that the county has been without railroad facilities, until the past two years. No county in the State raises finer horses, cattle, hogs, grain, or tobacco. Our sole reason for offering to sell this farm is to close our partnership, and at a low price and on good terms, we will sell the cheapest farm in Kentucky. No use to go West, and you'll say so, when you see this land. To parties who might want this land, we will sell the whole or a desirable portion of it and will suit purchasers. Call on us on the place or address us at Mooreville, Ky. 44-6W A. C. & JOHN TAYLOR.

About 300 Acres.

I can say without hesitation that this is naturally one of the best pieces of land in the county, and having been "nursed" for 20 years, is in condition to produce the heaviest of cereal crops, while its grass-producing capacity is unsurpassed and generally known as such in the neighborhood. There are but 30 acres now under cultivation, the balance all set in blue-grass, timothy and clover. The fencing has all been re-set within the last 18 months and every field and pasture has water in it. The dwelling is a modern two-story frame of 6 rooms, with hall, pantry, wash-room, front and ell porches and two nice, dry cellar rooms. There are two large cisterns, stable and shed room for 50 head of stock, stock scales, wheat bin, tool shop, poultry house, flower pit, corn cribs, carriage sheds, meat house, two good orchards and every variety of small fruit, tenant house of 5 or 6 rooms. Public school close by and churches and mills convenient of access. At the same time I will also sell all of my stock, consisting of 1 and 2-year-old cattle, milk cows and butcher stuff; also my entire

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress,

JAMES B. MCCREARY.

Gov. J. PROCTOR KNOTT passed back to Lebanon Sunday, from a visit to Pineville on legal business. He was very enthusiastic over the wonderful natural wealth of the region he visited and thinks development has hardly commenced. Gov. Knott is one of the brainiest men in Kentucky and ought to be made the presiding officer of the constitutional convention. He is prominently spoken of for the position, but he has made no effort whatever to secure it, believing that the high and honorable place should seek the man. He would, however, esteem it an honor to preside over the body, which will be composed in large part of master minds. The governor is for confining the legislature to making laws of a general nature and limiting the time for its sessions; for abolishing the superior court and increasing the number of appellate judges, who shall be elected from the entire State, and for some changes in the circuit and county courts. He does not think that many radical changes of the present organic law are necessary and is satisfied that the convention can complete its labors in 60 days.

COL. CLARKSON, first assistant postmaster general, has stepped down and out, because, as he alleges, he has no taste for office-holding. He claims to have accepted the office unwillingly and that his relations with Wamamaker and the president are of the most agreeable nature. Clarkson is the most intense partisan that has been connected with the administration. He is a firm believer in the doctrine that to the victors belong the spoils and he has cut off the official heads of 4th class post-masters with a reckless born of that conviction. In the 18 months that he has been in office, he has turned out 26,575 democrats and given their places to republicans, in addition to appointing 5,000 others to office. The material has nearly run out and the great headman retires with the proud consciousness of having smashed all records in his line.

THE Indiana State Convention, which was composed of 1,033 delegates and presided over by Gov. Gray, was a remarkably harmonious body and did its work promptly and well. A leading farmer heads the ticket for secretary, while a well-known editor is the nominee for auditor. The rest of the ticket is composed of good men, and there are every indication that they will be elected. The platform is the lengthiest ever adopted and is sound to the core. It takes a crack at creation and hits centre every time. The Indiana democrats are evidently not struck on their ex-fellow citizen, Mr. Harrison, whose methods and administration are roundly denounced.

THE Wheelers in the first Congressional district, after several days' wrangle, adjourned without making a nomination, but instead prepared a declaration of their principles for presentation to the democratic candidates. Should none of them endorse the "principles" then another convention is to be called and a candidate named. The Wheelers, like the grangers, may make themselves felt for a while, but like the prohibitionists, greenbackers and such, they will be of short duration. There can never be but two great parties in this country.

COL. BENNETT H. YOUNG has issued a valuable little book entitled "Constitutions of Kentucky and Their History," which ought to be in the hands of every one of the delegates to the convention, that meets next Monday. Col. Young has given the question of constitution-making much thought and he will no doubt prove one of the most efficient members of the body.

BULLY for Ex-Senator W. F. NEAT! He has been voting with the republicans ever since Lincoln's time, but that party has gotten too much for him. He is disgusted with its pension profligacy and other raids upon the treasury and in a letter to the Columbia Spectator he says he can't stand it any longer. He voted for Longmooar at the late election and will vote with the democrats in the future.

CLEVELAND'S name continues to be the signal for tremendous outbursts of applause in all democratic gatherings, which shows how near he is to the popular heart. In the Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin conventions the delegates fairly went wild every time his name was pronounced.

THE Nelson Record has been permanently enlarged to a nine-column and has treated itself to a new head dress, which is very becoming. Editor Morris is making the Record a capital paper and fully merits the strong patronage he appears to be receiving.

Miles Ogle, the king of counterfeiters, is in jail at Cincinnati.

THE Big Stone Gap Herald, which Mr. J. S. Grimes, Jr., has made such an excellent paper, has, it says, accomplished the object of its birth, and accordingly suspended.

NEWS CONDENSED

—After several rows and one fight, the House finally passed the Lard bill 126 to 31.

Young Men Seared.

The cry which comes up from the watering places is as regularly associated with this season in the public mind as cucumbers, ice cream and russet leather shoes. It is worth noting, however, that the wait this year is more deep and heartfelt than it has been for many seasons past. If things go on at the present rate before long the government will be importuned to take a hand in supplying the summer resorts with young men. Their scarcity bids fair to rank as a public grievance. Some of the published lists of the entertainments given at the watering places are curiously suggestive.

In one dispatch from Narragansett, for instance, on Sunday the details of a "delightful impromptu picnic" were given. A list of the guests was appended. There were four young men and twenty-seven young women. At an "informal" dance in Newport on the same day it was said that for the first time in the history of that famous watering place girls danced with one another since there were not enough men to go around. Such a condition of things as this at Newport is absolutely unprecedented. It is not difficult to find out where the young men are by the way. They are grinding away in New York, and a candid and unprejudiced survey of the field gives the impression that in view of all the circumstances they are doing pretty well.—Newport Letter.

Cucumbers as Food.

Many people are under the impression that cucumber is very indigestible, and when they eat it they do so under protest and with apprehensions of possibly dire consequences. How this delusion can have arisen it is difficult to say, unless it be that cucumber is often eaten with salmon and other indigestible table friends. It is not the cucumber, however, but the salmon that sits so heavy upon our stomach's throne. Cucumber, in fact, is very digestible when eaten properly. It cannot, indeed, be otherwise when it is remembered that it consists mainly of water, and that those parts which are not water are almost exclusively cells of a very rapid growth. In eating cucumber it is well to cut it into thin slices and to masticate them thoroughly. Even the vinegar and the pepper that are so often added to it are of service to digestion if not taken in excess. The cucumber, as every one knows, belongs to the melon tribe; but in our somewhat cold country it does not grow to any very large size, and therefore it is firmer and looks less digestible than its congener, the melon.—London Hospital.

A Bug with Two Green Lanterns.
Mr. A. W. Habersham found on Exchange place a beetle about one inch long that has back of his eyes two spots that give out a dazzling phosphorescent green light sufficient to illuminate his surroundings for a distance of several inches. When placed on his back he rights himself with a spring and a snapping sound. It is hence inferred that he belongs to the family "Elater." As such a beetle with lanterns is not known to be a resident of this country it is supposed that Mr. Habersham's find is an immigrant from Brazil or some tropical country where bugs that carry lanterns are not uncommon.—Baltimore Sun.

LOUISVILLE STORE

Stands to-day the largest and best appointed house in Stanford. That it has become the famous bargain resort for Dry Goods, Clothing, Shoes, Hats, Carpets, Matting, &c., no better evidence is necessary to substantiate these statements than the goods we sell, the values we give and the many advantages we offer over other and smaller dealers. Here the public can obtain good, honest goods at lowest prices; here business is conducted on a strictly cash basis. Our business is one of progress. We are always forging ahead, always striving to reach new spheres of activity, and such always will be our aim.

That's What

We are here for. The interests of ourselves and the public are identical. We start out the Fall business with renewed energy and confidence that our untiring efforts to please our patrons by giving the best values and polite service will be as fully appreciated in the future as in the past. September is a mercantile month, you know, and it begun Monday. Every day from today is to be busier. Recollect the reason of our having the whip and reins in hand over all other concerns hereabouts. Rouse up! Wake up! and be alive to the grand offers we are making now in new and seasonable goods for Fall and Winter wear. TAKE A LOOK through our new stock of Men's Suits and Fall Overcoats and you will be convinced that we are the leaders in low prices.

Keep Off of White Sidewalks.

If a man wants to avoid being prostrated by the heat he needs to be careful how he walks over a white sidewalk with the sun on it. In very hot weather people wear white or very light clothing because it repels the heat, while dark clothes absorb it. It is just so with these white pavements. They never get so hot as dark ones, and are easier on the feet in consequence, but they reflect the heat on the person who walks over them. It is better to walk in the street than on one of these white heat reflectors when the sun is shining on it.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

—The Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce sent President Harrison a watermelon weighing 101 pounds.

The Pulpit and the Stage.

Rev. F. M. Shront, Pastor United States Brethren Church, Blue Mount, Ky., says: "I feel it my duty to tell what wonders Dr. King's New Discovery has done for me. My lungs were badly diseased, and my parishioners thought I could live only a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery and am sound and well, gaining 25 pounds in weight."

From a little tot when we last saw her, she has grown into a beautiful young lady and has fully inherited the many charms of her handsome annts, who were noted belles in their day.

GARRARD furnishes two additions to the penitentiary. G. W. Bronston for forgery was given five years and Gar Leavelle, for killing Lewis Gill, 15 years.

SHERIFF MYERS, of Casey, has the honor of being the first sheriff in the State to settle with the auditor in full for this year's taxes. Mr. Myers is a democrat and a cracking good officer.

In attempting to get out of her buggy, at Turnersville Friday evening, the horse that Miss Mary Cooper, sister of our county clerk, was driving, started off, throwing her on the ground with terrible force. Both bones of her right limb were broken just below the knee and she was otherwise badly hurt.

THE Lower House of Congress has passed a substitute for the "Omnibus War Claim bill," which carries with it an appropriation of half a million. Among the claims allowed is that of Maj. W. N. Potts for $1,431 and one of $1,626 in favor of Judge M. J. Durham, administrator of Leonard Taylor, of Boyle.

By a new order of the State Central Committee, the committeeman in each precinct is to be elected by the democrats in meetings to be held next Saturday at 2 p. m. Chairman Newland has therefore called the meetings, which, it is hoped, will be largely attended. Elect none but sound democrats, who have the interest of the party at heart, and you will not go amiss.

JUDGE J. W. ALCOCK met with a narrow escape Friday and it was a case of luck that he came out as well as he did. He was driving between London and Manchester, when his horse suddenly began to kick and run. This was kept up for nearly a mile, but on turning a short curve the buggy was upset and the judge buried ruthlessly to the ground. Fortunately he lit in a mud hole instead of upon the rocks around. His head was badly cut and right leg and foot sprained.

MR. J. M. McROBERTS, Sr., met with a very painful accident Friday. He was driving in a spring wagon through his orchard when one of the wheels struck a stump, throwing him out head foremost. His neck and shoulders are fearfully bruised, but fortunately no bones were broken. The fall rendered him insensible for nearly an hour. He was found by Mr. W. M. Higgins, who happened to have business with him at that time and had it not been for that it is not telling how long he would have laid in that condition.

MARSH TURNER, of the noted Bell county gang, but apparently a peaceable and clever man, fell out with Steve Warlick over a trivial matter at Middlesboro and they went for each other. Turner used his revolver and Warlick handled his large knife with great skill. The terrible combat lasted fully 15 minutes and resulted in Warlick receiving a pistol shot in the breast, about an inch above the heart, the bullet passing entirely through his body. Turner received 11 knife gashes in all, one of which penetrated the abdomen. Both men are terribly done up and will die. Turner, who has made several visits to Stanford, impressed those he met as being far from a quarrelsome or desperate man.

MR. Ben Turner, father of Marsh Turner, passed through here Saturday and said his son had died of his wounds. Mr. Turner was badly wounded in the arm and cut in several other places slightly while attempting to part the infuriated men.

ANOTHER large delegation of Stanford young people attended the ball at Crab Orchard Springs Friday evening and as usual a delightful time was had. It was the closing ball and the beaux and belles from several of the surrounding towns were there to participate in the enjoyable wind up of an exceedingly pleasant and profitable season. Those who attended from this place were Misses Nan and Kit Baughman, Emma and Helen Sanfley, Annie Wray, Jennie Hughes, Birdie Wallace, Louise Bailey, Lucy Tate, Alpha Tyree, Annie Hale and Mrs. J. E. Portman, and Messrs. Covington and Blake, of Richmond, Joe Embry, Wallace Withers, J. H. Baughman, J. S. Owsley, Jr., D. R. Carpenter, C. C. Carson, W. B. Penny, G. L. Penny, Eph Pennington, J. C. Reid, T. T. Lackey, B. H. Danks, W. G. Lackey, E. C. Walton. The place will close in about 10 days, after the most successful season for many years. It had a good crowd all the time and for some weeks 400 or 500 people were there. Delightful at all times and excellently kept, its increasing popularity is a natural result, for all who go there will do so again if possible.

THE harvest is past, the hottest kind of a summer is ended and the succulent bivalve is with us again.

JUDGE MORROW passed up to Mt. Vernon yesterday to hold court. A very light docket awaited him.

I WILL continue to make cabinet photographs at $2 per dozen till September 10th. A. J. Earp, Stanford.

WANTED.—Three waist bands and three skirt hands. Apply at once. Miss V. V. Logan, Hustonville, Ky.

W. F. McClary, superintendent of common schools, has given bond with Hon. J. S. Owsley, T. D. Newland and Joseph McClary sureties.

THE tax-payers of Lincoln county will please come forward and settle. The books for 1890 are ready and I must have the tax. T. D. Newland, S. L. C.

THE Stanford Academy, J. G. Denny, principal, opened yesterday with 32 pupils, the largest number on hand at the beginning of the session for a long time.

THE Lincoln County Teachers' Association will be held at Kingsville Sept. 12 and 13. Miss Alice Stuart has furnished a programme, which will appear next issue.

PROF. J. M. SIBOLD will teach a class in vocal music, of 20 lessons, in the basement of the Presbyterian church, commencing next Tuesday night at 7:30. All denominations are interested and invited to attend. For terms call on W. H. Higgins.

NOTICE.—The Court of Claims will begin on the 6th day of October next and Sept. 26th will be the last day for filing claims against the county. Accounts must be verified, itemized and filed with me on or before that date or they will not be considered for a year. Under a recent order of court road claims must be verified both by the claimant and overseer. G. B. Cooper, Clerk.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—M. G. Reynolds, who was in town Saturday, tells us that Hiram Surber was instantly killed at Enbanks by the chimney of an old house, which was being torn down, falling on him. He was an old man and leaves a family. John Bastin was badly injured at the same time and is expected to die. He is also a man of family and both are respected citizens of the community.

THE United Brothers of Friendship had a big day Friday and did themselves great credit. Their parade was a very praiseworthy one and their entire proceedings day and night were remarkable for order and general good cheer. Not a disturbance occurred during the time. The order took in $180 about $110 of which was clear. The U. B. F. has done a good work for our colored people and ought to be encouraged. J. M. Wade, secretary.

FOUR or five young ladies went out to spend the night with Miss Kate Hall, at her country home Saturday night. They had just retired about 10 o'clock when there came a considerable storm of young people from our town and Hustonville and by "knocking at the chamber door" succeeded in arousing the fair sleepers. They were soon up and dressed and a jolly good time was had for an hour or two. We opine, however, that Miss Kate would prefer to be stormed at an earlier hour.

DEATH.—Old man John French is dead and a familiar character will no more be seen on our streets. He died Sunday, at the advanced age, he claimed, of 92. When he was 25 years of age he lost nearly the whole of his lower jaw from salivation and has ever since had to wear a handkerchief around his head and where his chin used to be. He never failed to ride or drive a jennet and she had become as well-known here as her master. The old man had been a charge on the county for 20 years, but he had never been sent to the poor-house. He leaves a wife and one child.

THE COLLEGE.—An I. J. scribe attended at the interesting opening exercises of Stanford Female College yesterday and was much pleased to see so many fresh young faces present. The session promises to be a very successful one. Certainly Prof. Hubbard deserves the most liberal patronage for he has associated with him a most excellent faculty, if the half we hear of the members that compose it be true. They were all in their places yesterday—Miss Sarah Louise Tipton, Miss S. Eva Bedinger and Miss Gertrude Howard. The latter is the music teacher and takes the place of Miss Arnall, whose recent marriage dissolved her contract to teach here. Miss Howard is from Ghent, Ky. She took the gold medal at the Louisville conservatory and afterward attended the Cincinnati School. Miss Tipton is said to be a splendid instructor and the work of Miss Bedinger, the art teacher, speaks her praises most emphatically. Her art display was visited by many of our people, all of whom were loud in their praises. She is certainly mistress of drawing, painting and wood carving and we are sure the department she will preside over was never in better hands. The number of pupils enrolled yesterday was 55, but it will no doubt be increased to 100 before many days.

THE Bourbon Fair begins to-day with low rates from all points on the K. C.

GOLD BEADS, thread necklaces and friendship rings, "all the go!" latest fashionable novelties just received by McRoberts, the Jeweler.

THE sale of the personality of the late E. H. Burnside was well attended and the prices realized were fairly satisfactory. The horses sold for $72 to $175.

A DISPATCH brought the sad news yesterday of the death of Mrs. W. T. Weakley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Gaines, at Shelbyville. She had been ill for some time.

BOB SMITH was tried yesterday for cutting John Bright, another negro, and held in $200 to the circuit court, which he couldn't give. J. B. Paxton prosecuted and it was his first case since qualifying as county attorney.
